

Note to Fishermen

The Tweedsmuir Pipeline

Remedial work was undertaken on specific sections of the Tweedsmuir pipeline in 2011 to smooth any spoil mounds. The locations of remedial work are shown on the back of this page.

Following remedial work on sections of the pipeline, trawl trials were undertaken in 2011. The trawl trials with a twin rig arrangement were completed successfully with no issues encountered.

Fishermen are still recommended to exercise caution when towing over the remediated sections, and when towing across other areas of the Tweedsmuir pipeline.

